MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Prof. (Dr.) Satya Prakash Panda
President
GIET UNIVERSITY GUNUPUR

" A life lived for others is a life worth living
-Albert Einstein "

NSS Wing of GIET University justifies the above line by great scientist Albert Einstein. Gross materialism, greed and quest for power have made us inhuman, mechanical and selfish. Time has ripened for us to inculcate and imbibe words like service, sacrifice and love to our day to day vocabulary. The young techno- crats of this splendid university work tirelessly to bring smiles in the faces of the underprivileged through myriads of social service schemes. PRAY AS, as the name suggests is an initiative by the think tanks of the university to uplift the life of thousands of people in and around the campus.

I take this opportunity to express my appreciation for one and all who made PRAYAS to see the light of the day.
I wish PRAYAS Vol-X a great success.

MESSAGE FROM THE CONVENOR'S DESK

DR. PREMANSU SEKHAR RATH
CONVENOR (N.S.S.)

DEAR READERS,

As sit down to write this page, myriad faces, events and achievements resurface themselves on the memory canvass. Under the aegis of the GIET Management and overall direction of (Prof.) Dr. NVJ Rao (Registrar), the NSS chapter was inaugurated in 2011 at GIET, Gunupur The intention was noble - to involve the students in social activities such as Blood Donation, Green Camp, literacy programs, Cleaning camps(later on it converted into SWACHH BHARAT), Financial assistance to the poor and needy people for higher education and medical care, under the umbrella of community service and community development.

Today NSS, the tiny sap- ling of the yester years has grown tall looking skywards with contentment and pride. I feel proud to be part of the NSS family. The NSS volunteers at GIET are committed to community health and welfare. Besides spread- ing awareness about various health and sanitation programmes/schemes of the Govt. of India and the Govt. of Odisha, NSS wing of GIET organizes Blood Donation camps are organized 12 times a year (ie. monthly). Year on year, GIET has made records for being the highest blood donor and organiser. Our volunteers have visited sur- rounding villages (which are thickly populated) and have cleaned their locality spreading awareness about the SWACHH BHARAT scheme for cleanliness. In order to keep the surrounding villages green and inculcate love for the environment in people, the college every year's plants more than SOO trees through its NSS wing. The student volunteers visit the nearby Orphanages and donate the cloth, school bags, and shoes. The volunteers spend some time with the Orphanage boarders, teach them Orphanages boarders, teach them, play with them and make them feel loved. This belongingness makes them more humane. What makes me wonder is the total involvement of NSS volunteers in social work. But more than that while undertaking social activities, their sense of responsibility towards society find a leap. Interestingly enough, our NSS volunteers have, year after year, proved their leadership in all kinds of campus activities-from Science & Tech Fest to campus placement. NSS preens them to be better Technocrats and better human beings. The NSS has had a very humble beginning but today the tiny sapling of the yester years has grown fall, looking skyward with contentment and pride. But these lines are never forgotten:

The woods are lovely, dark and deep,
But have promises to keep,
And miles to go before I sleep,
Wish you all a happy and prosperous year ahead.

NSS

- Not me but you" as the slogan goes so is the belief of every single determined member of the NSS family. With pure positivity in mind & selfless care in heart the unit has been serving the locality since 1997. This praiseworthy project has been initiated by the brilliant President Prof.(Dr.)Satya Prakash Panda and Vice - President Prof.(Dr.) Chandra DhwaJ Panda.
- "No matter what the situation is all the members of this unit know how to handle it. Whether it's about arranging camps or conducting programmes NSS has never let one down. We as NSS family feel proud to announce that this year too we could fulfill all our duties with at most responsibility & elegance.

Engineering Students as Architects of Change: Navigating the Role in Societal Development

Introduction: In the intricate tapestry of societal development, engineering students stand as catalysts for change, armed with knowledge, innovation, and a passion for addressing pressing challenges. Their role extends beyond the realms of academia and laboratories; it is woven into the fabric of community development, technological advancement, and sustainable progress. This article delves into the multifaceted role of engineering students and the transformative impact they can wield in shaping a better society.

1. Innovation for Social Impact: Engineering students are at the forefront of innovation, possessing the skills to design solutions that address societal needs. From developing affordable healthcare technologies to creating sustainable energy solutions, their innovations have the potential to revolutionize and uplift communities. Through research projects and design thinking, engineering students contribute to the creation of practical solutions that can enhance the quality of life for individuals.
2. Community Engagement and Empowerment: The role of engineering students goes beyond the confines of classrooms; it extends into communities where their skills can be applied for the greater good. Engaging with local communities, understanding their needs, and collaborating on projects can lead to the development of impactful solutions. Whether it's constructing infrastructure for rural areas or implementing technology-driven educational initiatives, engineering students play a crucial role in empowering communities.
3. Environmental Sustainability: With the world facing pressing environmental challenges, engineering students are pivotal in developing sustainable practices and technologies. From designing eco-friendly buildings to creating renewable energy systems, their contributions play a vital role in promoting a greener and more sustainable future. By incorporating principles of environmental stewardship into their projects, engineering students contribute to mitigating the impact of climate change and fostering a culture of sustainability.
4. Technology for Social Good: Engineering students are immersed in the world of technology, and their skills can be harnessed for social good. Whether it's leveraging data analytics for public health initiatives or using artificial intelligence to improve accessibility, technology becomes a powerful tool in the hands of engineering students. They have the potential to bridge the digital divide, making technology more inclusive and accessible to all segments of society.
5. Educational Advocacy: Engineering students are not just recipients of knowledge; they are also advocates for education. Through mentorship programs, outreach initiatives, and educational campaigns, they can inspire the next generation of engineers and scientists. By promoting STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics) education, engineering students contribute to building a skilled workforce that can drive innovation and progress in the long term.
6. Social Responsibility and Ethical Engineering: The role of engineering students also encompasses a commitment to ethical practices and social responsibility. Understanding the ethical implications of their work, considering the social impact, and prioritizing safety are integral aspects of responsible engineering. By instilling a sense of ethical responsibility, engineering students contribute to building a profession that places the well-being of society at its core.

Conclusion: In the journey towards societal development, engineering students emerge as dynamic agents of change. Their role extends from classrooms to communities, from laboratories to the world stage, where their innovations and contributions shape a brighter, more sustainable future. By harnessing their skills, knowledge, and ethical values, engineering students not only advance their profession but also play a crucial part in building a society that is resilient, inclusive, and technologically advanced. As we navigate the challenges of the 21st century, the role of engineering students remains pivotal in driving positive transformation and creating a legacy of progress for generations to come.

Illuminating Pathways: Social Development in Rural Areas through Education

Introduction: In the intricate tapestry of rural life, education emerges as the beacon that holds the transformative power to uplift communities, empower individuals, and pave the way for sustainable social development. The impact of education in rural areas extends far beyond the acquisition of knowledge; it is a catalyst for change that fosters empowerment, equality, and community resilience. This article delves into the profound role that education plays in shaping the social fabric of rural communities, exploring the avenues through which it acts as a driving force for positive development.

1. Empowering Individuals: At the core of social development lies the empowerment of individuals. Education in rural areas provides individuals with the tools to break free from the shackles of ignorance and poverty. By imparting skills, knowledge, and critical thinking abilities, education empowers individuals to make informed choices, pursue opportunities, and contribute meaningfully to their communities.
2. Breaking Gender Barriers: Education acts as a powerful agent in dismantling traditional gender norms prevalent in rural areas. By ensuring equal access to education for both boys and girls, societies can challenge stereotypes and foster a culture of gender equality. Educated women, in particular, become catalysts for change, influencing family dynamics, healthcare practices, and community engagement.
3. Health and Hygiene: Education serves as a vital tool for raising awareness about health and hygiene practices. In rural areas, where access to healthcare may be limited, educated individuals are better equipped to make informed decisions about their well-being. Knowledge about preventive healthcare, sanitation, and nutrition contributes to improved health outcomes and a higher quality of life.
4. Economic Opportunities: Education opens the doors to economic opportunities, especially in rural settings where agriculture often dominates. Educated individuals are better positioned to adopt modern farming techniques, explore alternative livelihoods, and participate in entrepreneurial ventures. This, in turn, contributes to economic growth at the individual and community levels.
5. Community Development Initiatives: An educated populace is more likely to engage in community development initiatives. By understanding the needs and challenges of their communities, educated individuals can actively participate in projects related to infrastructure, sanitation, and environmental conservation. This fosters a sense of ownership and collective responsibility for the well-being of the community.
6. Cultural Preservation and Awareness: Education in rural areas plays a crucial role in preserving cultural heritage and fostering a sense of cultural awareness. By integrating local traditions, languages, and customs into the curriculum, education ensures that future generations retain a strong connection to their roots. This cultural preservation contributes to a vibrant and cohesive community identity.
7. Participatory Governance: Education empowers individuals to engage in participatory governance. Informed citizens are more likely to participate in local governance structures, advocating for their rights and contributing to decision-making processes. This enhances the democratic fabric of rural communities, ensuring that the voices of all members are heard.

Conclusion: The journey towards social development in rural areas is intricately intertwined with the transformative power of education. As individuals in rural communities gain access to quality education, they become architects of change, shaping a future that is characterized by empowerment, equality, and community well-being. By investing in education, societies can unlock the full potential of their rural populations, fostering a legacy of progress that resonates across generations. As we navigate the complexities of rural development, education remains the steadfast foundation upon which sustainable and inclusive societies are built.

Did God only make Adam and Eve? An insight of male trapped in women's body!

Their face is their fortune, caked in cheap roughed kajal, powder and lipstick. They dress in ill-fitting blouses and colorful saris in the grotesque parody of womanhood as they move around in the busiest places of a city hustling for ten or hundred rupees. They are not usual beggars on the street. With male voices, shouting expletives, palms meeting crossways in a trademark clap they prey on susceptible passer-by.

Biologically and practically eunuchs are males. It refers to a male whose testicles are removed. They are normal individuals' born with male sex organs but due to some arising reasons either medical or psychological or practical one they get their testis removed.

Eunuchs are castrated males existing since 9th century BC. The word derives from Greek "keeper of bed" because they were in demand to guard the royal harems. The practice have being started in China at the end of Ming Dynasty.

India is the only country where the tradition of eunuchs is prevalent about 1 million of them, though role in life have changed drastically. Now they are being feared and no one want to be accosted to by them.

In 21st century they make their living by begging but childbirth ceremonies, wedding and housewarming are few other ways. They are believed to possess occult powers and their blessings and curse are both potent.

Discrimination based on their class and gender makes the hijra community most disempowered. The systematic violence they face by reinforcement by institutions and social harassment.

India's Supreme Court created an official 3rd sex for its transgender eunuchs and announced they will have a quota of government jobs and colleges places to help them overcome discrimination.

It's not a social or medical issue but a human right issue which people need to aware that eunuchs are not abnormal.

Ode to the pen

By - Mamata Lenka
Batch(2020-2024)

In the echoes of despair, my pen takes flight,
Each line a whisper in the lonely night.
Bleeding words on pages stained with tears,
Ink-drenched verses, confronting fears.

The paper cradles the weight of my ache,
As emotions spill, a tumultuous lake.
In the dance of pain, my pen finds grace,
Crafting verses that time can't erase.

Through the darkness, a cathartic art,
Each stroke a solace, mending the heart.
In the labyrinth of agony, my pen roams,
Weaving verses, turning pain into poems.

In realms where battles words ignite,
A pen, a sword, in shadowed light.
With ink, the poet weaves his lore,
More potent than the clashing war.

Through lines that cut, emotions sway,
In scripted battles, minds at play.
The pen, a weapon, sharp and keen,
Conquers realms unseen, unheard, unseen.

Happyness

By - Anuraag Chowdhury
Batch(2020-24)

Once during a usual NSS survey, I went to the nearby village of Narsinghmunda. As I reached there, I was assigned a small shabby house as it belonged to an old farmer. As I went inside, they offered me tea, but I politely declined. Yet, they still handed me a warm cup. As I sipped through the hot tea and went on with conducting the survey, I noticed that despite their financial and living conditions, there was not a single drop of despair in their lives. They were very happy and at peace. This made me realize that it is very much possible to find contentment and happiness in simple things. Often, we can become so caught up in the pursuit of material possessions, wealth, or success that we forget the simple pleasures that can bring us happiness. The farmer and his family provide an example of this; despite having a small and modest home, they were able to find happiness and contentment in their way of life. This can serve as a valuable reminder to all of us to take the time to appreciate the simple things in life, such as spending time with loved ones, enjoying nature, or pursuing hobbies that bring us joy. By finding happiness in the small things, we can cultivate a greater sense of contentment and fulfillment in our lives, even if we do not have all of the material possessions or accomplishments that we may have thought were necessary for happiness.

Lastly, to those wondering why I misspelt the letter 'y' in 'happyness,' it's because that 'y' in 'happyness' stands for 'you' and what makes you happy. Emphasizing this 'you' highlights the individuality and personal sources of happiness, encouraging each person to explore what truly brings them joy."

BABY GIRL A BLESSING

By - Sourav Mund
Batch(2020 - 2024)

Bearing a painful moment under the sheet she felt the warmth
of her little feet crying aloud with a sweet plea, hey MUMMA! look at me.

With tears rolling down the eyes wrapping her in the bosom of her heart she welcomed her through her eyes holding tightly her husband's shirt.

Welcome my little princess, said the father kissing the supple forehead with tender nervous was he seeing his little baby
his hands shivered while changing her nappy.

The baby rejoiced getting dear parents thanking god for what He gave happy was she,
happy were they moving towards their sweet enclave.

I wish it was a boy, the maid proposed but we are blessed to have her, the father opposed the tiny tot smiled resting in the arms and her mother thanked god with a charm!!

Desire
The flame that ignites the pursuit of your dreams

By - Soumitra Subudhi
Batch(2020-2024)

"Strong desires propel us forward, igniting the flame of ambition". They are the driving force that compels us to pursue our dreams with unwavering determination, turning aspirations into reality. Goutam Budha says "Desire is the cause of sorrow". In order to achieve the pinnacles, the burning desire fuels the kindling of your passion and boosts the commitment to an unrelenting pursuit of your goal. However, in the pursuit of our desires, it is essential to balance passion with patience, as the journey may be fraught with challenges. Those who cannot work with a yearning desire achieve but a hollow, half-hearted success that breeds bitterness all around.

Desire when it seems from the heart and spirit, when it is pure and intense, possesses awesome electromagnetic energy. This energy is released into the ether each night , as the mind falls into the sleep state. Each morning it returns to the conscious state reinforced with the cosmic currents. That which has imaged will surely and certainly be manifested.

A man who cannot believe in himself, cannot believe in anything else. Therefore, it's the time for unveiling the power within and navigate life's path through the prism of desire. It is hard to fail, but it is worse who never to have tried to succeed. Embrace the fire within, but navigate the path wisely, for a strong desire, when channeled effectively, can be the catalyst for extraordinary achievements.

Person and Perspective

By - Dibyajyoti Panigrahi
Batch(2020-2024)

When tigers used to smoke, there lived two friends named Rounik and Satya. They both failed in their lives in different professions. One did business and put everything into it but could not get any improvement and the other did a job and stayed there without even getting a promotion. Many people who were once on the same level with both of them were able to succeed more in their lives. During the conversation, Satya asked - " People who are less qualified than you are succeeding, but you couldn't. Does this thought ever depressed you ? Doesn't it make you sad ? "

Rounik replied - " My friend ! you have asked a very interesting question, In my opinion it's all depends on the state of the mind ". Satya again asked " Can you explain it with a bit more clarity " ? Rounik replied - " My ego thinks that people with less qualifications than me should not go to a higher position than me. But in the same time my brain understands , it may also be possible that they have demonstrated other qualities that have elevated them and that I do not have ! God provides us the things we need not the things we want. So maybe the irony is that I deserved what I get. Therefore, I never regret it"

The Hostel Friends

By - Asutosh Choudhury
Batch(2021-2024)

They were the ones who were strangers
The ones who came from different places
The ones who had nothing in common
They were the hostel mates

We were the ones who met them
The ones who shared the same space
The ones who had to adjust
We were the hostel mates

But as time passed by
We realized they were not so different
They were the ones who became friends
The ones who laughed with us and cried with us
They were the hostel mates

We were the ones who enjoyed it
The ones who had fun and adventures
The ones who made memories
We were the hostel mates

And even when we parted ways
We never forgot them
They were the ones who stayed in touch
The ones who wished us and supported us
They were the hostel mates

From Rags to Friends

By - S.R. Abhishek
Batch(2021-2024)

They were the ones who ragged us
The ones who made us do silly things
The ones who scared us and teased us
They were the seniors

We were the ones who endured it
The ones who followed their orders
The ones who hated them and feared them
We were the juniors

But as time passed by
We realized they were not so bad
They were the ones who helped us
The ones who guided us and supported us
They were the seniors

We were the ones who appreciated it
The ones who learned from them
The ones who liked them and respected them
We were the juniors

And before we knew it
We became friends with them
They were the ones who cared for us
The ones who joked with us and cheered for us
They were the seniors

What Will People Say?

By - Sandeep Lenka
Batch(2021 - 2025)

Most of us have been through phases in life where we have either done something or not done something, only because we were concerned about what other people think about us.

It is so valuable to just be who we are, even if people refuse to accept us that way. But if our life is governed by public approval, we live like victims, crushed under the opinions of society. It is a symbol of great strength to just be who we are and do what feels right and comfortable to us. But often we base our decisions on public approval. We even do certain things that don't align with our priority, values or capacity.

Follow these steps to be your way, without a need for peoples approval -

1.Know yourself, accept yourself and appreciate yourself, then your happiness will not be dependent on approval from others.

2.Create your own definitions of right and wrongs, values and principles. Your priorities, choices, decisions, habits need to align with them.

3.Losing people's approval when you decide to do something which is right,doesn't make you wrong. Your peers might own an expensive phone,but you need not be embarrassed about buying a lesser expensive model.

4.If you do anything just to please people, you may do the act but create thoughts of stress, anxiety and unwillingness. Train your mind to live life on your terms and ignore social pressures. Stop worrying about public approval and be authentic. Let's revise this affirmation everyday -

I am a powerful being.
I choose what is right for me not for people around me.
I have my own definitions of right and wrong.
Public opinion does not touch me. Every decision I take, is my choice.
People may approve of me,may not approve of me,I do not seek approval.
I do not need appreciation.
I choose what is right for me.

Whispers of Wisdom: A Student's Verse

By - N Subham Rao
Batch(2021-2025)

In the dawn of knowledge, a student's tale begins,
Eager eyes absorbing wisdom, where the journey spins.
Books and lectures, the foundation's embrace,
A scholar's heart awakening, in the learning race.

Midday sun witnesses exams and essays,
Struggles and triumphs mark the academic phase.
Friendships forged in libraries and lecture halls,
The rhythm of youth echoes in crowded halls.

As twilight approaches, graduation calls,
Caps tossed, dreams whispered in academic halls.
Entering the world, armed with newfound might,
Ambitions soaring, fueled by the learning light.

Dusk settles, careers unfold with might,
Challenges faced, lessons learned in the fight.
A lifetime of learning, the student evolves,
Through failures and victories, character resolves.

Nightfall descends, a legacy is spun,
In the quiet moments, reflections begun.
A student's life, a journey profound,
From the classroom echo to life's vast sound.

Strengthening Your Shield Of Positivity

By - Shrutishree Barpanda
Batch(2021 - 2025)

We are all going through turbulent times and life throws at us arrows of different negative situations again and again. We all carry a shield of positivity, which we use to protect ourselves from these different negative situations. Sometimes our shield is not strong enough and some arrows in the battlefield of life hit us hard and we get emotionally wounded as a result. Let us explore in this message how do we make our shield of positivity stronger -

1. Always keep one positive thought of spiritual wisdom in your consciousness in the entire day. An empty mind weakens our shield of positivity.
2. Keep God's company with you at every step. God is an Ocean of peace, joy, love, bliss, purity, power and truth. These virtues will make your shield of positivity stronger.
3. Apply the full stop when challenged by difficult situations. Don't create a large number of negative and waste thoughts and magnify the situation.
4. Tell yourself worry is a negative energy. By worrying, the negative arrows that life is throwing at you, will take advantage of you and hit you hard.
5. Keep yourself busy when there is a negative situation. The more you do that, the more your soul power will not get wasted and you will remain strong.
6. Emerge the power to face inside you. Remember the battle can only be won when you don't give up. This will attract solutions and take you to safety where the arrows can no longer hit you.
7. Giving is a beautiful art of performing positive and pure actions. By sharing qualities and powers with others, we send our arrows of positivity in the battlefield of life and they will bring the negative arrows down.
8. Practice the art of introversion. Just like the tortoise goes inside its shell, detach yourself from your sense organs and feel your inner being

Dear Mind

By - Aum Atman Behera
Batch(2021-2025)

Dear Mind the only one I fully Know
& Knew Is none other than you
As you are the reason for my every single action,
Here's my small suggestion.....
Many things and incidences that hurt
It's your job whose roots you need to cut
Only fill you with all good things
So no bad would make you stink
Many may try to imbed lots of misunderstandings which works as poison & its spread has no endings
Let your doors be open only for the good
And 'positivity' be the only food.
Don't make jealousy to ruin you
Use it as an opportunity and improve weak in you
Nobody has ever won the battle with 'self If 'jealousy' and 'Anger'.
The battle with self is to understand
both the 'two' 'Virtues' and 'Vices' within you
To overcome with the virtue And defeat the 'Vices' from two.
Remember no other could judge you
As no one can be the master and handle you Let your spirit boost up, when you are trying And one day world will see you happily flying.
Many people may act as good,
but some are sarcastic Beware from those & never leave the quality of being optimistic Be the host
Only of those, who have positivity the most
Dear mind, "Thank you!" for keeping me away from shackles,
And finding every problem's tackles.

The NSS Spirit - GIETU

Batch(2022 - 2026)

In the shadows they stand, unsung, unknown,
Heroes of social services, seeds of compassion sown.

Social workers, quiet warriors of the heart,
Crafting resilience, playing a vital part.

Admist the struggles, they tirelessly strive,
Unseen champions for those barely alive.

In the tapestry of need, threads they weave,
Unfurling hope, those who grieve.

In the child's laughter, in the elder's smile,
Unsung heroes navigate each time utile.

Their hands extend where others might turn,
A life line given, a flame to burn.

Having empathy their compass, kindness their guide,
Unknown heroes always walking by our side.

In the realm of silence, where sorrows reside,
They offer solace, a comforting tide.

So, let's raise our voices, let them be known,
Unsung heroes are present in every zone.

BROKEN WINGS

By - Peehu Sahu
Batch(2021-2025)

Walking down the memory lane,
Recalling her shattered voice,
Echo of pain,
That's was making her heart insane.

The untold stories of her scream,
Of her died dream,
That nobody cared,
But only her as it seems.

The veil was enough to hide her face,
But not her scars,
Ready to amble down the journey of healing,
And shines like a star.

Let's not ask "What's wrong with the flower?"
Instead, look at the environment the flower is in.
Let's not ban the query ,"WHY?"
Be opinionated and untie every knot,
Without any defy.

It's the tale of strength,
Women soar ,though feather may fall,
Through trials and storms, still they stand tall,
No longer bound by chain of old,
Without broken wings ,new stories to unfold .

Unveiling the Canvas: Creativity in Design

By - Surya Pratap Sahu
Batch(2021-2025)

In the realm where imagination takes flight,
Creativity and design weave a tapestry of light.
A dance of ideas, colors, and form,
A symphony where innovation becomes the norm.

From the spark of inspiration's initial embrace,
To the meticulous strokes that give it grace.
Design, a vessel for creativity's expression,
A journey where ideas find their progression.

In the blank canvas, a playground for the mind,
Creativity and design, intricately entwined.
Lines, shapes, and colors converge and collide,
Crafting stories that resonate far and wide.

The iterative process, a dance of refinement,
As concepts evolve, seeking their alignment.
In the fusion of function and aesthetic finesse,
Creativity and design create moments that impress.

Through every sketch and pixel refined,
Creativity in design, a limitless bind.
A manifestation of thought and innovation,
Unveiling a world of endless creation.

ALUMINI MESSAGE

As an alumnus of the National Service Scheme (NSS), I am filled with pride and gratitude for the opportunities and experiences that being part of this organization has granted me. Reflecting on my time with NSS, I am reminded of the countless moments of service, learning, and growth that have shaped not only my college years but also my outlook on life. Being a part of NSS wasn't just about fulfilling community service hours or participating in events; it was about fostering a sense of responsibility towards our society, nurturing empathy, and understanding the diverse needs of our communities. Whether it was organizing blood donation drives, conducting cleanliness campaigns, or teaching underprivileged children, every initiative we undertook was a testament to our collective commitment to making a positive difference in the world around us. Beyond the tangible impact we made, NSS instilled in us invaluable qualities such as leadership, teamwork, and compassion. It taught us to step out of our comfort zones, collaborate with others from different backgrounds, and embrace the power of unity in service.

As alumni, let us carry forward the spirit of NSS in our lives beyond college. Let us continue to be catalysts for change, advocates for social justice, and champions of the values instilled in us by this remarkable organization. Let us strive to create a more inclusive, equitable, and compassionate world, one small act of service at a time.

To all current NSS members, cherish your time with this organization, for it will undoubtedly shape you in ways you cannot yet imagine. Embrace every opportunity to serve, learn, and grow, for the impact you make today will resonate far into the future. As we embark on our respective journeys, may we always remember the NSS motto - "Not Me, But You" - and strive to make a meaningful difference in the world, one selfless act at a time.

Best regards,

Debi Datta Rout

ALUMINI MESSAGE

It's too hard to express these 4yr's emotions in 4 lines. The line "Not me, but you" taught me many things in between these 4 years. As I'm an Agricultural student, I always have to deal with farmers at grassroot level, and I gain all the courage by this #NSS platform by attending different programmes and campaigns. It's a pleasure to see my juniors leading or working on this with the same enthusiasm as we did. It's the best memory of my college life being a part of the NSS family. I'm always grateful about this. Thank You.

Best regards,
B. Shalini Achary
